

ADVERTISEMENT

Ad

HUMAN SOUNDING TEXT-TO-SPEECH VOICEOVERS

AI text to audio converter

Text to Speech Voice over Generator

OPEN

Love Island's Samie Elishi wears a colourful semi-sheer dress during Maldives holiday as she says she is 'grateful' after cancer scare

By LAURA PARKIN FOR MAILONLINE

PUBLISHED: 20:56 BST, 18 August 2023 | UPDATED: 14:32 BST, 31 August 2023

Share WhatsApp Twitter Facebook Email Print 16 shares View comments 9

Love Island's Samie Elishi looked stunning as she enjoyed a holiday to the Maldives days after being given the all-clear amid her recent cancer scare.

The reality star, 23, who recently revealed the results of her thyroid surgery, said how 'grateful' she was following her two-week wait to find out if her lump was cancerous.

Posing for some photographs at her resort, Kandima Maldives, Samie wore a colourful semi-sheer dress and a black bikini as she relaxed in the sun.

Vanessa Feltz, 61, wouldn't wish her 'broken heart diet' on anyone

After being given the good news, she was certainly in the mood to celebrate as she he flashed a big smile and sipped on a glass of champagne.

Alongside the photos, she wrote: 'Grateful is an understatement.'

Site Web Enter your search Search

ADVERTISEMENT

Find DailyMail on TikTok

Follow us

DON'T MISS

- Royale with cheese! Meghan Markle pulls up in her $140k Range Rover at Montecito 'In-N-Out Burger' with a friend as Harry kicks off the Invictus Games
- Nicole Kidman steps out in New York with supportive husband Keith Urban by her side as she shrugs off Amy Schumer's mockery of her appearance
- Kim Kardashian takes NYFW by storm in red snakeskin trench coat as she grabs dinner with Jeff Bezos' fiancée Lauren Sanchez and Nicky Hilton
- My Mum, Your Dad viewers say they're 'already obsessed' with the 'heartwarming and refreshing' show dubbed 'middle-aged Love Island'
- EastEnders star Brian Conley 'abruptly quits the soap after row with BBC execs as producers scramble to rewrite storylines for his rapid exit'
- Complete your summer festival outfit

Follow Daily Mail for breaking news and top stories from around the globe

WhatsApp

Follow @MailOnline for breaking news and top stories from around the globe

Twitter

© Samie Elishi/Instagram
Glowing: Love Island's Samie Elishi, 23, looked stunning as she enjoyed a holiday to the Maldives days after being given the all clear amid her recent cancer scare

TRENDING

My Mum, Your Dad fans are left in tears as Roger speaks of late wife

13.5k viewing now

Amy Dowden admits having 'meltdowns' over hair loss amid cancer battle

9.8k viewing now

Sensors on the bleep? Don't panic, jet pilot Buzz is light years ahead

865 viewing now

Samie recently revealed she is 'doing great' after undergoing thyroid surgery almost three weeks ago.

The TV personality gave fans an update on her health as she admitted she 'thought she was going to be a lot worse' following the procedure.

Speaking exclusively to MailOnline at Ghost Fragrances' Luna Collection launch party last week, she said that she felt fine after she woke up from the anaesthetic.

Samie said: 'I'm doing great, I have a Prosecco in hand, but in all honesty I thought I was going to be a lot worse than I was. But I woke up and like 20 minutes after I was eating McDonalds!

'I was absolutely fine and I know some people have worse experiences but I was so lucky and my surgeon was amazing and that was on the NHS. So yeah I'm doing great and it's healing.'

The reality star, who recently revealed the lump in her neck was not cancerous, said she has been getting several messages from fans since opening up about her health.

Samie continued: 'I'm getting DMS and messages of fans being like, "I'm going into surgery", "I have the same scar".

'I even have mums and nans messaging me like my granddaughter has a lump on her neck and she's getting it checked because of you. I'm like "OMG thats amazing".

Summer seasonal style: Check out the trainers Aston and Sarah Lou Merrygold are LOVING AD FEATURE

ADVERTISEMENT

Find DailyMail on TikTok

Follow us

Michelle Visage reveals her husband and daughter have been undergoing 'ketamine therapy' to treat severe depression

Amy Schumer apologises for Nicole Kidman joke but manages to slam Ashton Kutcher and Mila Kunis... before deleting post

Kanye West's 'wife' Bianca Censori flashes busty cleavage in nude bra and skintight leggings while out with incognito rapper in Florence, Italy

How one Oxford scientist ditched academia... to make HEALTHY doughnuts! AD FEATURE

Sawetie and Jasmine Sanders sizzle in red sequins as Elsa Hosk storms the runway at LaQuan Smith's SS24 show at New York Fashion Week

ADVERTISEMENT

Twitter

Follow @MailOnline for breaking news and top stories from around the globe

Emily Ratajkowski struts her stuff down the catwalk in a leggy look as Lori Harvey and Suki Waterhouse lead star-studded attendees at the Tory Burch show

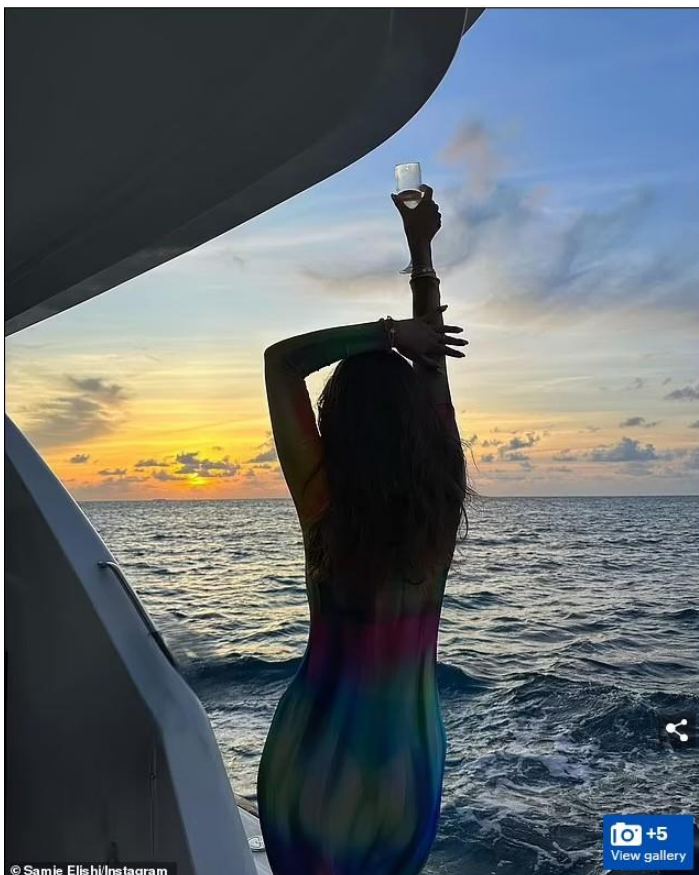

Irina Shayk takes daughter Lea, 6, by the hand as she strolls NYC after walking Michael Kors NYFW runway

© Samie Elishi/Instagram

Stunning: The reality star, who recently revealed the results of her thyroid surgery said how 'grateful' she was following her two week wait to find out if her lump was cancerous

Amazing: After being given the good news, she was certainly in the mood to celebrate as she flashed a big smile and sipped on a glass of champagne.

Despite only having surgery last week, Samie was straight back to work.

She added: 'The grind never stops and I have lots of exciting things coming up. September is going to be massive'.

During her latest YouTube, she decided to share the results with her fans after meeting up with one of her pals Abi.

She said: 'We have just got some really good news, my surgeon has just called me and said that the lump in my neck is not cancerous and it's just a benign tumour.

'So we have Prosecco to celebrate,' to which her friend then replied: 'Cheers to that!'

Later on in the video Samie added: 'I just wanted to close off the vlog on the highest note ever. I was just so happy when my surgeon called me yesterday.

'It was a bit overwhelming I was in so much shock - bless him to call me directly as well, I just think that was so nice of him, he didn't have to do that.

Samie Elishi details hospital dash and postponed thyroid surgery

Watch the full video

Continue Reading

Read Next Article >>

Recommended by Outbrain

- ▶ Amanda Holden says Britain is 'going backwards' with its perceptions of sex as she reveals she filmed a sexy toga scene in winter for new Sky show
- ▶ From London's Southbank to Berlin's street art - are these the coolest capitals in Europe? Here's what two locals think... AD FEATURE
- ▶ Blake Lively is a 70s disco queen in gold as Vanessa Hudgens is cool in caramel beige during Michael Kors fashion show arrivals in NYC
- EXCLUSIVE Nicole Kidman 'not fazed' after Amy Schumer mocks photo of actress as fans accuse comedian of 'cyberbullying'
- ▶ Ashley Roberts flashes abs, Cheryl is ethereal in a cape, Myleene Klass wows in black... yet Tulisa misses fashion memo at Simon Jones' wedding
- ▶ Kim Kardashian showcases her flat midriff in electric blue bikini top and spandex shorts during paddle boarding session in Turks and Caicos
- ▶ Put your wellbeing first this autumn: From introducing better habits to getting help when you need it, here are this month's top 10 health tips AD FEATURE
- ▶ My Mum, Your Dad viewers root for Roger to find love as they are left in tears when the single father opens up about his late wife on emotional date

ADVERTISEMENT

Find DailyMail on TikTok

Follow us

Daily Mail

#dailymail

4 Following 4.4M Followers 201.2M Likes

Follow

Seriously Popular

DailyMail.com

EXCLUSIVE Kanye West and wife Bianca Censori were joined by a mysterious woman during amorous Venice boat ride

▶ Bella Hadid looks

